

Briefs discussed at LTA workshop

A good representation from the Elk Point area was on hand Saturday, September 22 at the Lakeland Tourist Association Workshop on planning for tourism in the future.

Chamber of Commerce Tourism Chairman Ron Barwick, Chamber Vice-President Sid Holthe, Town Administrator Pat Vincent, Historical Society President Mary Bennett and your reporter spent a snowy Saturday in St. Paul at the workshop which studied tourism opportunities and potentials, as well as the topics of tourism-related briefs presented to the June meeting of the NADC in Cold Lake.

Most of the briefs focussed on the Cold Lake-Grand Centre area, with areas of concern including beachfront development, fish stocking, road upgrading, increased tourist facilities, and a regional museum for the area.

Mary Bennett spoke on behalf of the Fort George-Buckingham House Restoration Committee, which presented a brief to the NADC in June of 1983, noting that the forts would not only be a destination site, but would benefit many communities on the way to the site with increased tourist traffic. She urged that some degree of stabilization of the site would be a top priority, with reconstruction of the forts the preferred alternative. Mrs. Bennett mentioned that 1985 is the centennial of the Riel Rebellion, and that development of the fort sites would be especially appropriate at this time.

The Restoration Committee has received assurance from the government that the site has Four run in town by-election

Four candidates will contest the two vacant seats on Elk Point Town Council in a by-election next Wednesday, October 3. The chairs were left vacant early in the summer by the resignations of Philomena Mackenzie and Gordon McCuaig.

A brief outline of the election of each candidate follows.

ALVINA SCHUHMAHNER

Local businesswoman Alvina Schuhmacher has lived in Elk Point most of her life, and feels that now she would like to play a part in determining the town's future. She feels that Elk Point is a "good town with not much to complain about" and is mainly concerned with helping council with its regular business. Regarding Elk Point's growth potential, Mrs. Schuhmacher said she wants to "see lots happen here, but slowly."

STAN DMYTRASH

Stan Dmytrash is a retired school teacher and principal, who feels he will have adequate time available to devote to council concerns. A revamped water system and improved water pressure would be an important issue to this candidate, as well as attracting additional professional services to Elk Point. Further assessment of the town's business would show other important matters for council to consider, Dmytrash commented, adding that he would like to see increased resident involvement.

WALTER LESYK

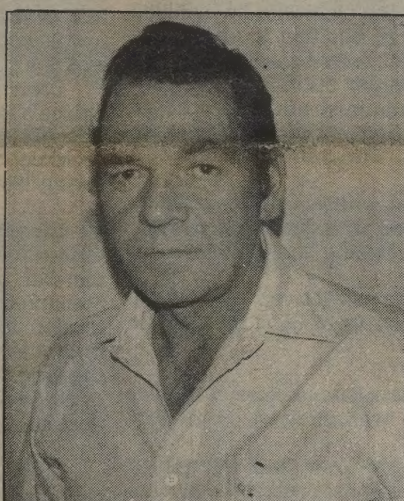

Another long-time resident of Elk Point, Walter Lesyk feels he knows the town and most of its people, and would like to work on their behalf with town council. Lesyk would like to determine the major concerns facing the town and work toward solving these. The community as a whole is the major concern of this candidate, who works as a production supervisor.

GORDON FRASER

Gordon Fraser is the owner of a small concrete and construction business, a field in which he has 33 years of experience. He has a background since 1952 in total land development, and thinks that this would be a definite asset to town council. Water and sewer upgrading, day care facilities and keeping businesses in the downtown core are all concerns that Fraser feels council needs to deal with.

Chamber finds temporary home

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce held their September 19 meeting, with 16 members present, in the pleasant environs of the Pioneer Circle Hall, with lunch prepared by a group of that organization's members.

It was decided that the Chamber will continue to meet at the Pioneer Circle until completion of the new addition to the Empress Restaurant. To get the meetings over by 1 p.m., allowing the hall to be readied for the afternoon bingo, lunch will be served promptly at 11:50 a.m. instead of noon.

The chamber recently received a handsome plaque, signifying membership in the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and it was decided that this will be hung in the Tourist Information Booth.

Tourism Committee chairman Ron Barwick read a letter from the Lakeland Tourist Association, regarding a meeting with personnel of the Northern Alberta Development Council on Saturday, September 22 in St. Paul. The meeting will deal with tourism related issues and will have an impact on tourism development throughout northeast Alberta. In addition to Barwick, Sid Holthe and your reporter volunteered to attend the meeting.

Only nine persons had signed up for the Management Assistance Program to be presented in Elk Point under the auspices of Alberta Tourism and Small Business, with at least double that number needed by the kickoff meeting on Monday evening, September 24.

The Chamber is presently examining a volume entitled "Government Assistance For Canadian Businesses", on a trial basis. President Metz will contact the town office to see if they have a copy of this publication, as the cost is expected to be high and there is insufficient need for two copies in one town.

President Metz noted that she had been contacted asking the chamber to host a meeting dealing with an alternative to the present government. She told the caller that the chamber would not be interested, and suggested that they contact the town office.

Finding a chamber representative for the Impact Assessment Committee has been tabled, following a suggestion from Sid Holthe that anyone appointed at this late date would find it difficult to pick up the train of thought. Four chamber members serve on the committee as delegates from other organizations, so this seems adequate at this point.

Mayor Buck was on hand, and reported briefly on the recreation land purchase, Dome Petroleum's multimillion dollar announcement, upgrading the water pressure and the October 3 by-election.

Buck reported that council has decided to go ahead with plans for a new library, to be designed by David Kobayashi. Council plans to finance part of the cost with a 20 year debenture, which has been advertised. The mayor also noted that a start on the senior citizens' lodge is expected in the spring of 1985, following financial difficulties which put the project's architect into receivership. The town has received a letter from the Health Planning Board regarding a nursing home in the near future, and it is the feeling of the town that both facilities are needed in Elk Point.

MLA John Drobot was also present at the chamber meeting, and told the group, Minister of Energy and Natural Resources, John Zaozirny would be available on Thursday, October 25 for a supper meeting, which might be of considerable interest to local residents in view of the immense Dome project just announced. Mayor Buck and Carol Metz will collaborate on plans for the meeting.

Drobot also touched briefly on the just released government white paper on industrial and science development outlooks for 1985-1990, as well as what has transpired in these fields since 1970. Meetings will be held at major points throughout the province to discuss this document, Drobot said.

a high priority, but nothing has been done to date and the committee would like to know the present status of the project.

A workshop to determine tourism development priorities occupied part of the afternoon session and brought forth a variety of concerns. Resource management programs which would protect wild areas and historic sites, improved transportation in the form of better roads and directional signs, expansion of camping facilities, and involvement by the private sector in development were all high priorities forthcoming from the workshop, which ended a most interesting day of information packed discussions and presentations.

Town petitioned for land plebiscite

It appears that Elk Point's recreation land debate is not over, after all. A petition bearing 142 signatures was submitted to town council on Monday, asking for a plebiscite on the purchase of the Clinic Holdings property for recreational development.

The petition asked that the plebiscite be included in the October 3 by-election, but this is impossible because of the short time left before election day.

Councillor Bruce Kleeberger moved that the petition be referred to the administration for proper scrutiny including presentation and verification of the residency of the signatories. The administration will then report back to council.

Recent discussions held with K.C. Miller regarding the property were tabled, with the administration directed to write to Miller advising him of the present situation.

The 142 signatures on the petition represent 12.8% of Elk Point's total population, or 16.4% of the eligible voters.

A wide variety of business came before council at Monday's meeting, which was chaired by Deputy Mayor Morris Cooper.

Proposed restructuring of town staff was tabled for further study, as the personnel committee has not yet finished their report on the matter.

A public works committee recommendation to purchase a safety mask for the water treatment plant and a methane gas detector for sewer lines was approved on a motion by Deputy Mayor Cooper.

A proposal by Cicon Engineering for refurbishing the water pressure filter, at a cost of $13,000 was accepted on a motion by councillor Kleeberger, with further consideration to be given to an alternate type of media, if cost permits, and rental rather than purchase of the pump for the present time. The town has been advised that grant funding is available to cover 75% of the cost, leaving only 25% to come out of the town's coffers.

Council endorsed concept plans for the senior citizen's lodge, on a motion by councillor Kryvenchuk. This project has been at a standstill since the former architect went into receivership earlier this year. A spring 1985 start is now anticipated on the lodge.

East End Rentals has asked for an extension of the time allowed for development of the highway commercial lot purchased from the town. Councillor Stepaniuk moved that East End be given a 90 day extension to initiate development on the parcel, and failure to do so will result in forfeit of their deposit on the land. Access to the side of the parcel is available on 53 Ave., and a request for additional access will be denied.

Bylaw No. 399/84, adopting the 1984 assessment roll for 1985 taxation purposes was given all four readings at Monday's meeting.

Realtor Bill Ballas visited council to present an offer to purchase 10.68 acres in the industrial subdivision on behalf of Pan Canadian Petroleum. The four lots, at 2.67 acres each, are located in the unserved portion of the subdivision and are in the $6,200 per acre price range.

The potential purchasers asked that the town provide services to the property line and waive offsite levys. The first request was readily agreed to, as services need be extended only 33 feet. The offsite levys proved more of a problem, with councillor Kryvenchuk moving that a counter offer be made stating that the offsite levy be deferred on all undeveloped lots, subject to future development, and that all other conditions are acceptable to council.

This would mean that Pan Canadian would only pay an offsite levy on the lot they plan to develop, rather than on all four.

The sewer hookup request submitted by Bill Wyshynski was denied by council on a motion by councillor Stepaniuk, in view of engineering information previously acquired by the town on a similar request by Elk Point Packers.

Council approved a buried cable site requested by Alberta Government Telephones, on a motion by councillor Kleeberger.

Elk Point Curling Club, who wrote requesting that 1984 taxes be forgiven, was advised by the administration that no taxes have been levied on the property since 1972, and will not be this year.

Council was unable to reschedule their next meeting, from Thanksgiving Day, October 8, to Tuesday, October 9, because a full council was not present.

Management assistance underway

Elk Point's Management Assistance Program, presented by Alberta Tourism and Small Business and sponsored by the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, got underway Monday night with twenty participants on hand.

The program offers the services of private sector management consultants Richard C. Hudson, Stewart Cowen, C.A., and Muriel Grimbé of Manecon Partnership, to small independent businesses on a one-to-one basis. Over 2,000 businesses have participated in programs of this kind throughout Alberta.

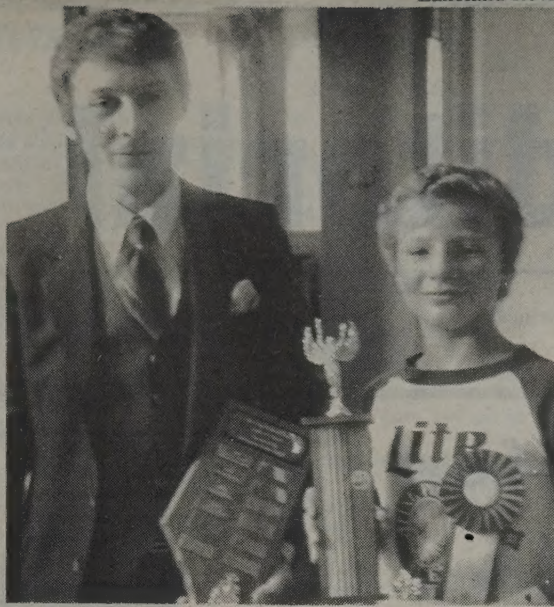

Manecon Partnership serves as consultants for firms ranging in size from Imperial Oil down to small businesses which net $4000 per year, directing them in management, merchandising, marketing and financial techniques.

Al Harleton, of Tourism and Small Business, St. Paul office and Norm Greenwood, director of the Management Assistance Program, were also on hand to answer questions regarding the program.

The next step will be research of individual firms, with a half day devoted to each business for preliminary, fact finding discussions and to identify areas of concern. This will take place during the week of October 9 to 12.

Phase one of the actual counselling will come two weeks later, with a return visit to each business to discuss recommendations for development or problem solving and to plan implementation of these new ideas. A second phase of counselling in early November will be directed to businesses the management team feels would benefit most from further help.

The final audit phase will take place the first week of February to determine the success of the recommendation, ending with a windup dinner scheduled for February 6, 1985.

SCHOOL FAIR WINNER — Jason Yarmuch received his award from Elk Point Elementary School principal Don Conrad last week. Along with the giant ribbon donated by the Elk Point Agricultural Society Fair Board, Jason received a trophy donated by the Elementary School staff. His name will go on the large challenge trophy plaque which stays in the school.

Old-time dancers entertain

A group of old-time dancers from St. Paul, Lloydminster and Elk Point entertained patients and staff of Elk Point Municipal Hospital on Sunday, September 16, and were greatly enjoyed by their audience.

Dancers were Barb and Kevin Mroczek of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Aime Malo of St. Paul, Elmer Enzenauer of Lloydminster, and Eunice Lambie, Rene Keller and Ray Hammond of Elk Point.

A special thank you to the dancers from the patients and staff, who very much enjoyed your visit.

Highway 41 contract awarded

A $1,499,803 contract is being awarded to Western Bitulithic Ltd. of Edmonton, Transportation Minister Marvin Moore announced.

The contract involves grading, base pavement construction and final paving along a stretch of Highway 41 from south of the North Saskatchewan River for seven kilometres to south of Elk Point. The contract is part of a major improvement project designed to upgrade Highway 41 to modern standards. This work will benefit the local, agriculture, recreation and resource-related traffic travelling this route.

The contract is scheduled for completion on the summer of 1985.

There were seven bids, the next two lowest being: Carmacks Construction Ltd., Edmonton - $1,521,696 and Ledcor Industries Ltd., Edmonton - $1,550,698.

Dome project announced

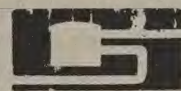

EDMONTON — John Zaozirny, Minister of Energy and Natural Resources, welcomed the announcement by Dome Petroleum Limited and its partners, Sulpetro Limited and Consolidated Natural Gas Producing Company, that the companies will proceed with the construction of a 15,000 barrel per day in situ oil sands project near Lindbergh.

Mr. Zaozirny said, "I am pleased by the companies' decision to go ahead with this important project. It is another step forward in the development of Alberta's oil sands resource and it will contribute to job creation and economic activity in our province."

The $300 million project will involve the drilling of 320 wells in the next five years, and the construction of facilities for steam generation and for gathering and treating of the heavy oil produced. Field development will begin this fall, and construction of facilities next spring. Under terms of an agreement reached with the Government of Alberta, royalty payments will be reduced until capital costs have been recovered by the developers.

The project will provide 265 permanent jobs. In addition to an annual average 50 construction jobs, the project will generate jobs and activity in our manufacturing and service sectors. Alberta drilling and drilling service companies will be major beneficiaries of the project.

Weather permitting

Western Bitulithic Ltd. crewmen from Edmonton moved into Elk Point on Monday to start work on rebuilding the portion of Highway 41 from Elk Point Bridge to the south town limits. Part of the construction is to be done this fall, with completion in the summer of next year.

The completed project, which will straighten out the dangerous curve and widen the exceedingly narrow portion of road, is something to look forward to. The construction period is not.

Construction further south on Highway 41 rendered that road impassible several times this summer and fall. Road construction in the Heinsburg area and the subsequent delay in paving Secondary Highway 646 is still making travel difficult for residents of that area.

Closer to home, the portion of 50th Avenue west of the hospital has been replaced, since its total disappearance earlier in the summer while pipes were laid to the mobile home subdivision, and the surface given a thick coat of gravel.

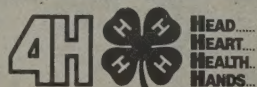

The portion from the mobile home subdivision west to the corner has had several months of rest this summer from its usual heavy traffic, but the rest has not provided a cure for the perennial troubles besetting the road. In fact, it's worse than ever, with deep ruts in the rainsoaked surface.

We all know that the weather has been uncooperative lately, and totally unsuitable for road revamping. Hopefully, when it dries up, the Town will find a few loads of gravel to dump on this major artery.

Those of us out west here hope so, anyway. We like to come to our favorite town--weather permitting.

meanwhile, back at the ranch

by VICKI BROOKER

"Beware", William Shakespeare said, "the ides of March". Beware, may I add, the ides of September to at least an equal degree. At these two times of the year, when day and night become of equal length, the weather tends to go berserk and people become moody, irritable and frayed around the temper.

The 'vernal equinox', which is the proper name for the ides of March, can be likened to the temper tantrums of a young child, as the fledgling year tries to throw off the blankets of winter, climb out of its chilly crib, and run in the strengthening sunshine. The 'autumnal equinox', on the other hand, can be viewed as the dismal doldrums of the change of life, as the year realizes she is no longer fruitful and is facing a decline to the end.

She isn't ready to let go yet, to give up her crop of children, even though they are ripe for harvest and to break their bonds with Mother Earth, so she cries bitter tears and holds them to her just a little longer. She is more beautiful than ever, in her brightly colored garb, but with every leaf that falls she sees herself becoming bald, with all her wrinkles and deformities revealed, in the harsh autumn sunlight.

She has had a beautiful and exciting life, this middle-aged year reflects...from the time she donned her pale green dress of spring, and adorned it with the earliest crocus...the heady months of midsummer, where she basked in the bright sunshine and flirted with the breeze...the coming of maturity, when her hair grew lush and golden, and she became ever more fruitful...

But now, it's over. Her world seems like it is beginning to come to an end, with the fruits of her womb cut free from her and sent off to lives of their own. She can only cry.

But look...the sun is coming out, and isn't that some blue sky over there, peeking from behind the clouds? All these leaves make a very pretty dress, and maybe this ultra-short hairdo won't be so bad, once she gets used to it. The storm is over, and the golden days, to relax and enjoy the fruits of her labor are coming...and eventually, there will be a thick white blanket, and a time to sleep, and sleep...

Flowers brighten gloomy Friday

A grey and gloomy Friday was brightened for the long term patients of Elk Point Municipal Hospital by the Adventure Hour arrival of Edith Mitchell, with masses of fresh garden flowers for all to enjoy.

Sweet peas, asters, lupins, bachelor buttons, marigolds and cosmos by the bucketful were transformed into attractive arrangements for each resident to enjoy for days to come, under the guidance of Mrs. Mitchell, activity aide Carolyn Onusko and physiotherapist Marilyn Dykstra.

A large group of nurses dropped by to watch the residents at work and to enjoy the cheery sight of brightly colored flowers which were a definite contrast to the wet weather outdoors.

Junior citizens honored

Outstanding young people from throughout the province were honored as 1984 Junior Citizens of the Year September 14 at a special ceremony in Calgary.

Seven youngsters — including 18-year-old Darrell Komick of Vermilion — were selected from the nominations submitted to Alberta Power Limited (which co-sponsors the program) were presented by the Hon. Frank Lynch-Staunton, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta.

The program recognizes young Albertans between the ages of six and 18 who have gone out of their way to make life better for others around them.

Darrell was chosen as one of this year's recipients because of the leadership he provides in school and community activities. His activities have included chairing the board of Vermilion Youth Services, a community group aimed at providing recreation and social services for young people.

As president of his student union, Darrell also organized an AADAC workshop for his school. He is also active in school sports and an encouraging team captain, as well as being active in his church. He was a key organizer of a diocesan youth conference held in Vermilion last year.

The Junior Citizens program, which has been recognizing the contributions of young people throughout the province for the past 23 years, is co-sponsored by Alberta Power and TransAlta. Utilities, with the co-operation of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association.

In recognition of the support he has given the program during his term of office, the Hon. Frank Lynch-Staunton was made an honorary Junior Citizen at the same luncheon ceremony where Darrell received his award.

Pioneer Circle

plans fall activities

By Irene Magnusson

The Board of Directors of the Elk Point Pioneer Circle gathered for their usual third-Tuesday meeting in the Hall, at 2:00 p.m., September 18, 1984. Executive and Directors present totaled 14. In the absence of Secretary Grace Lien, Mrs. Grace Barwick was acting Secretary.

Marg Clark, in the chair, opened the meeting with minutes of the previous Directors' meeting. Following a small correction, minutes were accepted as read. The Treasurer, Erika Bender, gave the financial report for the past two months, showing disbursement of grant funds re the Campsite down by the river, also cost of Heritage Day activities, and the final settlement for construction of the ramp. A healthy balance remains after all bills paid. Bills for August housekeeping were also presented, and a motion passed to pay same.

Clark reported a call from the Hospital Auxiliary for a donation from the Circle toward purchase of a portable hair-dryer for use of disabled patients. A motion to donate $50. towards this fund was carried.

The Pioneer Circle will request use of the strip of land between their hall and the Elk's Hall, which now sits idle, for a horseshoe pitching ground. The cement tables, now occupying the space, could be transported to the C.J. Markstad Park, where they might receive more use. It is also desired to locate two sets of horseshoes for this purpose.

A Thanksgiving social gathering was discussed, with several entertainments mentioned, however, the final decision was left to be discussed at the Bingo meeting to take place later in the week.

Not at all too early to start the Cribbage tournaments, a volunteer was recruited to get this organized and rolling. Lilly Sass will take on this task. A 'Bank' Shuffleboard tournament will also be arranged, with John Palinka in charge of arrangements. A fee of $1.50 per player will be charged to those entering these Tournaments, to cover all games; three events, in the case of the shuffleboard. These games should wind up before Christmas. Get your name in, if you wish to participate. Commencing dates will be announced.

Floor curling is another activity it is hoped will get under way soon. This has yet to be arranged.

Some members wanted to hold a 'Flea Market' in the Hall. It was decided to go ahead with this, on Friday, October 26, 1984 under the title of a 'Mini Market'. Erika Bender (at 724-4022) and Marg Clark (at 724-2415) are the numbers to call to reserve a table, fee $3. per table. Due to the shortening days by then, the sale will go from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. of that day.

Next month's meeting will be a general Membership meeting, again on the third Tuesday, October 16, 1984 at 2:00 p.m. in the Hall. All members should try to attend.

The meeting was adjourned at 4:10 p.m.

SINGER, Mr. David

On September 9, 1984, Mr. David Singer of Frog Lake passed away aged 40 years. He is survived by his loving wife, Edna; 2 sons and 1 daughter: Ricky, Kelly, and Emily, all at home; his loving parents, William and Sarah Singer of Frog Lake; 1 brother and 5 sisters: Charlie and his wife Eve of Frog Lake, Mrs. Oliver (Clara) Moyah, Mrs. Louise Desjarlais, Miss Ellen Singer, and Mrs. Laura Cardinal of Frog Lake, and Mrs. Irvin (Freda) John of Kehewin. VOTE

STAN DMYTRASH FOR COUNCILLOR
On October 3rd, 1984

I would like to represent the Town of Elk Point on the local council.

I feel that I will have the time, being a retired teacher and principal, to devote myself fully towards the pertinent affairs of our town.

Further I have had the experience in administration which required budgeting, planning priorities, considering long range projects and running an accountable system.

Furthermore, I consider myself a good listener and I intend to get more involved in local recreational and service clubs.

ON OCTOBER 3rd, PLEASE VOTE STAN DMYTRASH FOR TOWN COUNCIL.

From the Sgt.'s Desk

Several years ago, I was on routine patrol following another motorist. I noticed that one of his brake lights was burned out and I decided to stop the driver and warn him. It was a young couple and a little girl, I put on the emergency equipment, the man noticed and we pulled over to the side of the road and stopped. I walked up to his car and just as I was about to speak, the child in the back seat began to cry and scream hysterically. I told the fellow why I had stopped him and asked why the child was crying because she seemed to be terrified of me. The man admitted that because the child was misbehaving in the car and because he had seen me behind him, he had warned the child that if she didn't behave the policeman behind them would stop their car and take her to goal.

I received a call last week in response to my article of two weeks ago. A lady was reviewing safety procedures and cautions with a very young member of her family but was shocked to learn that the child was more afraid of a policeman than a stranger. I was asked why and after thinking about it for a moment, the story I related to you came back to me.

So many people innocently use the police as a boogymen. They will tell their child, "If you don't be good I'm going to take you to the police station and have them throw you in gaol!" or in the case noted above they will make a comment, not meaning a word of it but not knowing how the child will respond. I have to admit that my own sister used the technique when I was home visiting a few years ago.

Young children are very impressionable, anything you as a parent say, is taken to be the truth and the whole truth. They will believe you and they will be in constant fear everytime they see a policeman, even when they need help. In my article of two weeks ago, I discussed children and strangers and safe places to run to and safe people to run to. How can you expect your child to trust a policeman if you use him to frighten them? Please, for the safety of your children, if for no other reason, teach them a policeman is a friend and a person to be trusted. By the way, it's illegal to put a child in goal.

news

Summer has come and gone and we hope you all had a very happy and enjoyable season. The Further Education office will open on Tuesday, Oct. 9. Our office hours are 4:30 - 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday. Our phone number is 724-4101. The fall brochures will be in the mail by then. There are a lot of interesting courses being offered again this year. Please register early so we will know if a course will be running or not, for we need eight paid up adults to run a course.

This year senior citizens, 65 and over, may attend any Further Ed. course free, except for material cost of the course. Senior citizens please be prepared to show your Golden Age card when registering.

There will be an "Old Time Dance" to acquaint anyone interested in "Old Time" dances such as Belfield, Valita Waltz, Old Time Waltz, Cabbage Two Step and others. This will be held in the Elk Point Community Service Centre gymnasium, on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 21; 1 - 4 p.m. Lunch will be served. Admission Fee: $2.50 each. We would like you to meet our dancing instructors, Lee and Ross Lee. Music will be supplied by The Lees.

Let's hope you all feel like adding "A little class to your night life" and we'll make this year a better year than last, which was our best year yet. Let's hear from you.

LET EXPERIENCE WORK FOR YOU

CRIME STOPPERS

During the night or morning of 84 September 20/21, a break and enter was committed at the Centennial Senior Citizens Complex situated on 49th street and 52nd avenue.

Entry was gained by breaking a sliding window on the northeast side of the building.

The only thing that appears to be missing are four cases of Molson Canadian beer and twelve bottles of Windsor Canadian Rye Whiskey.

Should you have any information on this or any other serious crime that leads to an arrest, you will qualify for a cash award of up to $2,000.00. Please call 1-800-922-TIPS. That number again is 1-800-922-8477.

CRIME STOPPERS IS A CIVILIAN SPONSORED PROGRAM.
